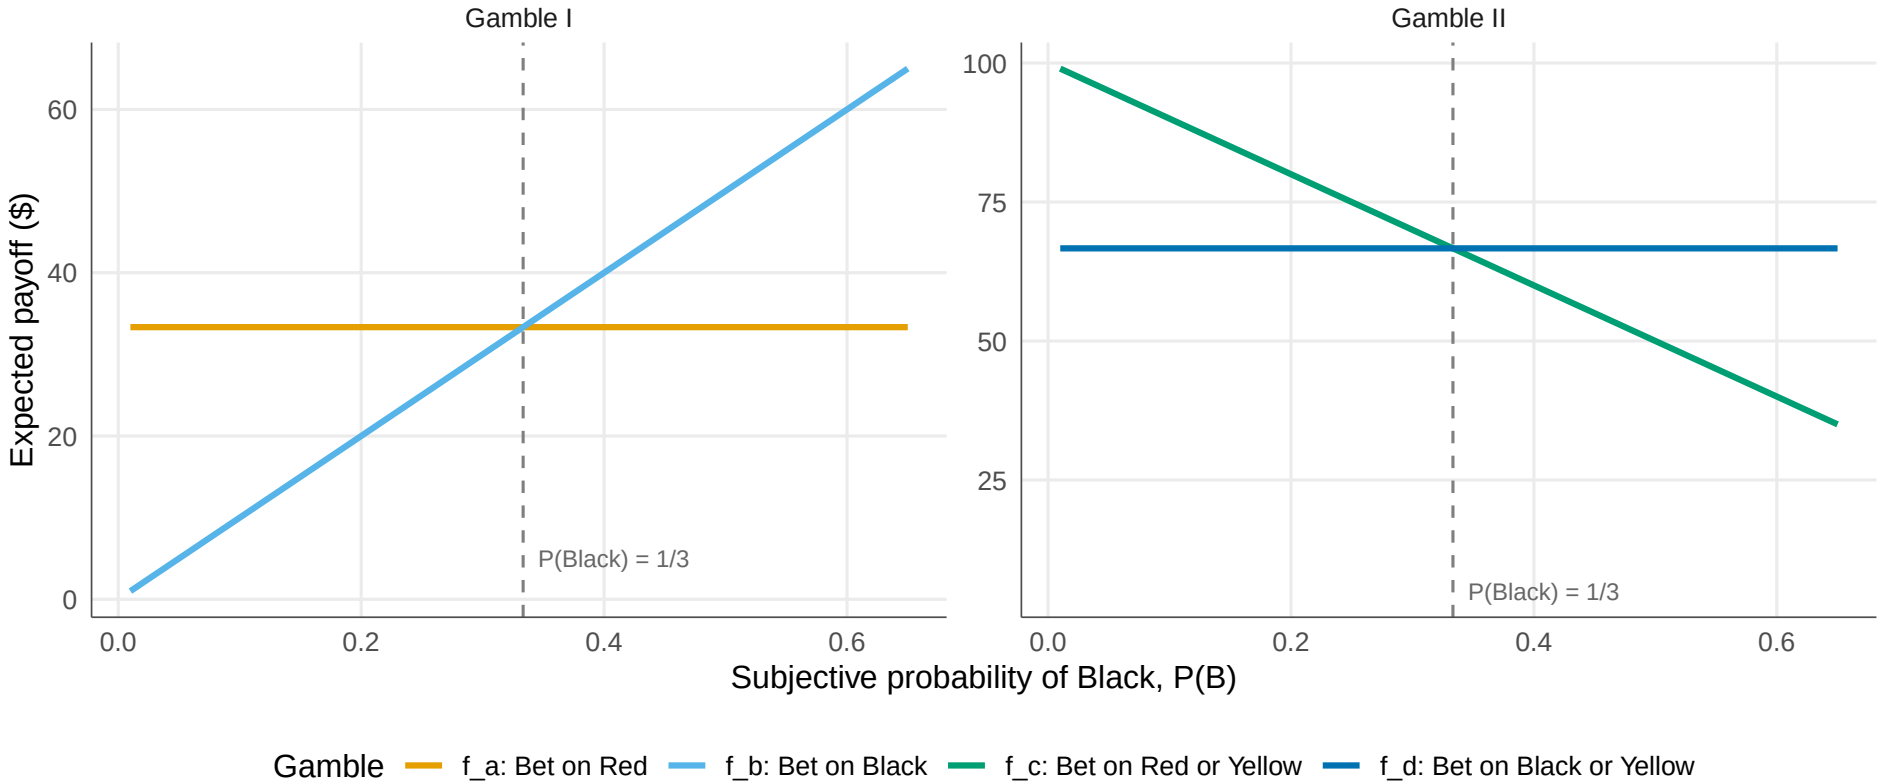
The Ellsberg Paradox: No Consistent Subjective Probability


Typical preferences (f_a . f_b and f_d . f_c) require contradictory beliefs about P(Black)