

The Ellsberg Paradox: No Consistent Subjective Probability

Typical preferences (f_a . f_b and f_d . f_c) require contradictory beliefs about $P(\text{Black})$

Gamble — f_a : Bet on Red — f_b : Bet on Black — f_c : Bet on Red or Yellow — f_d : Bet on Black or Yellow